BPC Trustee

One clinical (Registrant) trustee is sought who has a strong empathy with our strategic objectives and is looking to make a contribution to the strengthening of the BPC as an organisation, and the long-term development of the psychoanalytic profession.

The Board of Trustees are jointly and severally responsible for the overall governance and strategic direction of the organisation, its financial health, the probity of its activities and developing the organisation's aims, objectives and goals in accordance with its governing document, legal and regulatory guidelines.

We have a vision of a society that recognises and values human relationships and the use of psychoanalytic theories of mind to support emotional wellbeing, good mental health, and effective social policy to create a better society.

We are the leading professional association and a Professional Standards Authority Voluntary Accredited Register for the psychoanalytic and psychodynamic psychotherapy profession in the UK. We enjoy a reputation for high clinical and professional standards and are purely psychoanalytic in our focus.

We accredit the trainings of our Member Institutions, ensuring that they meet our exacting standards. Individuals who qualify from our accredited trainings are eligible to become BPC Registrants.

As well as our regulatory role, we advance the knowledge and understanding of the theory and practice of psychoanalysis and psychoanalytically informed therapies in a range of critical policymaking and opinion-forming arenas in the UK.

We also lead debate about the role of psychoanalytic theory outside of the consulting room. We engage with academia through our Scholars membership category and through events such as our annual 'Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy Now' conference, and our termly magazine 'New Associations.'

Our Board of Trustees, supported and advised by the Chief Executive and staff, provide the strategic direction of the organisation and ensure it is well governed. We place great importance on our close relationship with our Member Institutions and our Council provides a key link with our Trustees. Council comprises of representatives of our Member Institutions.

The Chief Executive oversees our small but impactful staff team, supporting them to deliver the aims of the organisation. Our new Chief Executive joins at a period of growth and development for the BPC.
